DETAILED ACTION

1. It is initially noted that the examiner erroneously included claims 8-14 in Group I. Claims 8-14, which are directed to a stamping device comprising a tensioner, a rubber sheet delivery means, and a cutter, are properly included with Group V of the previous restriction (new Group II). The changes in claim groupings are highlighted in bold below.

Also, in response to applicant's arguments, an examination of all of the claims would involve a serious burden, as evidence by the lack of unity of invention. In particular, the claims fail to include common subject matter that would represent a special technical feature. For example, Group I defines a tire manufacturing method in which a first sidewall rubber layer is sandwiched between a pair of second sidewall rubber layers. Group II, on the other hand, is directed to a stamping device comprising, among other things, a rubber sheet delivery means, a tensioner, and a cutter- it is evident that the claims of Group II are entirely silent with respect to the above noted tire construction and the stamping device set forth in Group II does not constitute the only device capable of performing the tire manufacturing method. Thus, it is clear that the respective groups are directed to different inventions, each having a unique and separate means for establishing patentability. This rationale is similarly applicable to the additional groups.

Election/Restrictions

2. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

Art Unit: 1791

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

- Group I, claim(s) 1-7 and 15, drawn to a method of manufacturing a tire and the associated tire.
- Group II, claim(s) 8-14 and 22-24, drawn to a stamping device including a tensioner, a rubber sheet delivery means, and a cutter.
- Group III, claim(s) 16 and 17, drawn to a method of stamping a rubber sheet member in the annular state on a side face of a body of rotation.
- Group IV, claim(s) 18-21, drawn to a method of stamping a rubber sheet member on a side face of a body of rotation in the annular state.
- Group V, claim(s) 25-28, drawn to a stamping device including an extruder, a rolling machine, and a cutter.

3. The inventions listed as Groups I-V do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: as detailed above, there is no common subject matter to all the claims and as such, lack of unity of invention is present "a priori".

4. A telephone call was made to James Oliff on June 19, 2008 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
